Organizers

CLRA/ACRS (www.clra.ca)

The Canadian Land Reclamation Association/
Association Canadienne de réhabilitation des sites dégradés (CLRA/ACRS) is a non-profit organization that was incorporated in 1975.

The main objectives of CLRA/ACRS are:

- To further knowledge and encourage investigation of problems and solutions in land reclamation.
- To provide opportunities for those interested in and concerned with land reclamation to meet and exchange information, ideas and experience.
- To incorporate advances from research and practical experience into land reclamation planning and practice.
- To collect information relating to land reclamation and publish periodicals, books and leaflets which the Association may think desirable.

- To encourage education in the field of land reclamation.
- To provide awards for noteworthy achievements in the field of land reclamation.

IALR

The IALR provides an international information exchange network for sharing technology relating to the reclamation of lands disturbed by mineral extraction and processing. It is comprised of: American Society for Mining and Reclamation (ASMR), British Land Reclamation Society (BLRS), Minerals Council of Australia and the China Land Reclamation Society.

The Venue

One of the most beautiful capitals in the world, Ottawa enjoys the attributes of a major centre with the atmosphere and charm of a smaller city. The conference will be held at the Crowne Plaza hotel in downtown Ottawa. A block of guest rooms has been reserved for the conference at a special conference rate of only $119 + taxes. Rooms must be booked before July 28, 2006 to guarantee this rate.

Call for Papers

Abstracts are sought on a variety of reclamation, restoration and remediation topics including, but not limited to:

- Mining
- Aggregates
- Oil & Gas
- Forestry
- Metals in Soils
- Case Studies
- Policy
- Social/Cultural
- Urban Restoration
- New Technologies
